AVIATION

BRITAIN'S AIR DEFENCE SCHEME

Big Increase Made In Estimates

CO-OPERATION WITH NAVY IS ESSENTIAL

Broad outlines of the British government's plans to strengthen further the Royal Air Force at home and overseas are revealed in the historic White Paper relating to Defence, which was published recently.

The Air Estimates for 1936-37, published later, and the Air Minister's explanatory memorandum issued with them, indicate in some detail how the expansion programme decided nearly a year ago is going on. From these three documents a picture of the Air Force of the near future may be built up.

An outstanding feature of the White Paper is its clear and emphatic declaration of faith in the importance of the air arm. "The prime function of the Royal Air Force," it states, "is to provide an effective deterrent to any attack upon the vital interests of this country whether situated at home or overseas. In the present situation this is the most urgent and important of our defence requirements." Strategists who in the past have doubted the extent of the Government's belief in the efficacy of the air weapon welcomed that paragraph.

After recalling that the expansion programme approved last year was designed to bring the strength of the Force at home to a total of 123 squadrons with approximately 1,500 first-line aircraft, the White Paper continues: "That programme is proceeding according to plan, but new developments in design will render it possible to make great additions to the striking power of the Force. The latest types of machine which will shortly come into production show such improvements in speed, range and carrying capacity as greatly to increase the operational effectiveness of the squadrons to be equipped with them."

MORE PLANES
Accordingly, the programme already approved will be varied by effecting certain changes in composition and at the same time some addition will be made to the numbers of aircraft. Including four new auxiliary squadrons to be formed for co-operation with the Territorial Army, the new programme will increase the first-line strength of the Royal Air Force in this country, bringing up the total to approximately 1,750 aircraft, exclusive of the Fleet Air Arm.

The programme, it will be noted, is not simply one of expanding numbers. The importance of range and load is recognized, and a bigger proportion of medium and heavy bombers will be found in the new Force than in the old. Further, the great strides in design and construction made through the initiative and enterprise of the aircraft industry in the past two years are now ready for use in large-scale production, with resultant big increases in the range, striking power and mobility of the air arm.

How clearly the British lead in design is realized abroad was shown by Lord Swinton, Secretary of State for Air, in a speech at Cambridge in the evening of the day on which the Estimates for 1936-37 were published. He said: "Experience of the past nine months has given the Air Ministry the certainty that we can put into production machines that in speed and range are second to none in the world."

Lately I have received envoys from several other countries, saying that they wanted such and such a machine. I have had to point out that Great Britain needs the first 150, but the clamour for that machine is sufficient evidence of our primacy in design."

OVERSEAS NEEDS
With these points in mind the authors of the White Paper state that figures of first-line strengths are a misleading criterion of comparative air strengths, and add that "in the present case the augmentation of offensive and defensive power which will result from the revised plans is greatly in excess of the numerical increase just mentioned."

Overseas needs are not forgotten. "The Royal Air Force also has responsibilities in the general scheme of Imperial defence. With our wide Imperial responsibilities, the ability to reinforce a threatened area in sufficient time and in sufficient strength demands the location of air units at convenient places on the strategic air routes. The Government propose an increase amounting to approximately twelve squadrons for this purpose."

In the next paragraph the White Paper states that the five regular squadrons at present allotted for co-operation with the Regular Army will be reorganized to provide seven squadrons, each of twelve aircraft. The strength of the Fleet Air Arm in first-line aeroplanes will be brought up to substantially higher figures in the course of the next few years.

TECHNICAL ADVANCE
On the industrial side the Paper refers to great and pressing problems on the effective solution of which will depend Britain's capacity to protect herself and to play a fitting part in the scheme of collective security.

When the first expansion programme was launched nearly a year ago the industry offered the Government its full and whole-hearted co-operation in the great productive effort required.

After years of a low level of production, constructors were faced with the many difficulties that are involved in resuming production at the full level of capacity. The extended programme that has now been framed will involve even more difficult problems, not the least of which is to procure the necessary numbers of highly skilled workmen.

No industry welcomes high peaks and low hollows in its graph of production. It is uneconomical and it is apt in the lean years to lead to a slowing down of technical development which, to be pursued successfully, must have a background of production.

There is no standing still in the technique of aircraft and aero engine design and construction. Search for technical advance must go on continuously and among its other preoccupations the industry must see to it that even during the expansion period adequate thought and effort are given to research and development.

ESTIMATES INCREASE

The Air Estimates show a big increase over any previous peacetime year at a gross total of £43,490,000, which exceeds the original estimates for 1935 by £19,639,500 and the final estimates for that year (including supplementaries) by £12,488,500. Several millions are in the form of contributions from other sources, the chief being more than three millions from the Admiralty on account of the Fleet Air Arm, and the net Air Estimates for the coming year total therefore 239 millions, which is more than £18 millions above the Estimates presented a year ago. These substantial increases indicate that the first expansion programme is well under way; the present Estimates do not cover the cost of the further expansion outlined in the White Paper.

"WAR RESERVES"

Lord Swinton's explanatory notes add a vital detail to the expansion scheme. He states that execution of the revised programme, including provision of full war reserves, will extend into 1937 and 1938. Presumably the scale on which reserves of aircraft and engines will be established will be sufficient to make good losses that would be incurred in the early stages of a war, while manufacturers were accelerating to full war production. The rate of loss might be great.

Lord Trenchard, onetime Chief of the Air Staff, foreshadowed several years ago the need for 100 per cent replacement within the first three months. That period has since fallen, in the view of many experts, to one month and it may be less. Evidently, therefore, the essential fact that must be known before the numbers of reserves necessary can be decided is the period which industry would need to reach full wartime production of aircraft material.

Lord Swinton continues that the first-line strength of the Air Force under the revised programme—129 squadrons with 1,750 first-line aircraft—will compare with 53 squadrons and 580 first-line aircraft, which represented our strength on April 1, 1935. "The existing 25 squadrons overseas will be maintained during 1936 at a first-line strength of approximately 270 aircraft, though the formation by 1939 of a further 12 squadrons for services overseas has been approved."

"The Fleet Air Arm is to be increased during the year by 27 first-line aircraft. Proposals are also under consideration for a reorganization of catapult units. On this basis the Fleet Air Arm will attain a strength approximately equivalent to 21 squadrons with a first-line strength of 217 aircraft by the end of the current year. There will be further substantial increases in the Fleet Air Arm in 1937 and subsequent years."

The Air Minister comments that the productive capacity of the aircraft and engine industries has

THE UPWARD TREND

British Buyers Becoming
"Bigger-car Minded"

A natural result of the reduced horse-power tax which has been in force for the past twelve months or so, and of the general improvement in financial outlook, is the increasing popularity of larger-engined cars in this country. Models of this nature are now offered by several British manufacturers, an engine of 25 h.p. or more being available in one or two instances at no extra cost compared with a smaller unit in the same size of chassis. It is clear from the evidence of the roads and registration figures that many motorists are now enjoying the benefits of higher-rated cars than have been generally used in recent years.

In carrying out Road Tests recently, "The Autocar" staff has had an opportunity of confirming that at long last one or two of our best-known manufacturers are producing a big, moderately priced car which really justifies itself by the easy and powerful top gear performance it affords. This is a direction in which for too long our cars have been inadequately competitive with American products, hampered as our designers were in the past by a widespread need for economy, and hampered as they still are to some extent by an arbitrary tax which places a handicap upon a dimension such as the bore and number of the engine cylinders.

It is of interest in this connection that there is a probability in the near future of a concerted appeal by the Motor Legislation Committee on behalf of all motor interests—private owners, manufacturers, and so on—for a further reduction in motor taxes. Mr. Neville Chamberlain will be asked to receive a deputa-

MOTOR JOTTINGS

POPULAR DIESEL SMALL CARS

GERMANY'S SEARCH FOR A CAR FOR THE MILLION

On many occasions Herr Hitler has demonstrated his keen interest in the production of cars and motor cycles for the million. Instance the decision to sweep away taxes on new vehicles, the fact that users of motor cycles under 200 cc. need not undergo driving tests, and the Government's encouragement of alternative fuels to petrol. Now, however, comes the promise of the biggest step forward of all in popular car production in Germany.

It is said in authoritative circles that the celebrated designer Dr. Porsche has been commissioned by Herr Hitler to design a popular Diesel-engined runabout, that the design exists, and that it embodies a two-cylinder engine at the rear of the chassis. With Government subsidy the little runabout is to cost the equivalent of £75. It is termed the Volkswagen.

Dr. Porsche is not the only designer at work upon a small Diesel-engined vehicle; we have reports of a small four-seater saloon on the stocks which is to cost £100, and the intention is to market it next year when road tests are complete.

Good luck to it! Nothing but gain in the form of more cars licensed, and more men employed, would result from a further reduction in the h.p. tax, and also a reduction in the petrol tax.

GOOD SPORT FOR 1936

A CALENDAR THAT PROMISES WELL AT HOME AND ABROAD

Now let us see what sporting fare is to be provided for our entertainment in 1936. First—from January 25th-30th—there is the Monte Carlo Rally, in itself one of the greatest adventures that can arise from motoring; and that will be followed—March 24th-28th—by the R.A.C.'s Rally, not quite so romantic, perhaps, but good fun none the less. Later comes that very friendly affair the Scottish Rally, from June 1st to 5th, in addition to the Welsh version from July 14th to 18th—all good, sound competitions, where enthusiast can meet enthusiast, with him experience all kinds of adventures, with him talk them over afterwards.

Trials "fans" are already looking forward to the Land's End (April 10th-11th), the Edinburgh (May 29th-30th), the Gloucester (December 5th), the Brighton-Beer (June 20th), the Colmore Trophy (February 22nd) and the Inter-Club Team Trial (April 25th)—to say nothing of the Shelsley Walsh affair—knowing well what they will have to face and, peculiarly enough, liking it!

For those who have not as yet reached the stage in their sporting experience in which the more important races are possible, there is also ample provision. The Light Car Club's Relay Race (May 16th) alone is not only good sport, but has all the attributes of a first-class race in miniature, and usually involves its patrons in all that have gone before.

BRITISH BUSES IN EGYPT

Recent additions to the large number of Thornycroft buses operating in Egypt include 24 "Lightning" class 18 ft. wheelbase chassis supplied through the makers' branch in Cairo to the Egyptian State Railways. The special bodywork has been constructed in the Railways' own workshops and the complete vehicles delivered to Kifory Bros., who are operating them for the Railways under the name of the "Société Orientale D'Autobus."

With these latest vehicles in service the number of Thornycroft buses operating in Egypt is now close on 200.

rather more than a fair share of the troubles resulting therefrom!

Then the racing calendar is full, with almost every kind of race that any man could want, for any type of car, at home or abroad, from that peculiar but likeable business, the Brooklands meeting, in no wise resembling anything else at all, to the trials and tribulation of twenty-four hours at Le Mans (June 13th-14th), or twelve in the French Grand Prix (June 28th), to the shorter, but just as exciting, moments of the Tourist Trophy (September 3rd) of the new 1½-litre race in the Isle of Man (May 28th), of Donington—especially the Grand Prix (October 3rd), and the J.C.C.'s famous old 200-Miles Race—the International Trophy (May 2nd) with its three courses in one, the Empire Trophy, at Donington this time (April 4th), and the 500-Miles Race (September 10th) to end a season which is sure to be at least as good as all that have gone before.

An English Doctor
writes:—

"I find that 'Bisurated' Magnesia taken after most of my meals is the only thing that keeps me free from pain and discomfort, and I take it regularly. I often prescribe it for my patients, and have had very good results."

(Signed) Dr. H. G. M.A., M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P.

THE English doctor is the most conservative medical man in the world, and when he not only recommends but personally uses a remedy there can be no more convincing proof of its efficacy. This doctor is but one of many who constantly advise the use of 'Bisurated' Magnesia in all cases of indigestion. Most stomach trouble is caused by acidity, and the reason why 'Bisurated' Magnesia gives quick relief is that it instantly neutralises excess acid and soothes, heals and strengthens the inflamed stomach lining. Nothing could be simpler, safer or surer. If you suffer with indigestion or stomach disorder of any kind put your faith in European science and make an end of your troubles by taking 'Bisurated' Magnesia after eating or whenever pain is felt.

AIR DEFENCE SCHEME

been progressively increasing as a result of the orders placed since the successive schemes of expansion were authorized, and the great bulk of the deliveries of aircraft and engines required to complete the present programme, both in respect of training and combatant formations, are expected to have matured by March, 1937. A materially larger number both of aircraft and engines will be delivered in 1938 than in 1935.

A STRATOSPHERE PLANE

Research and technical development account in all for £2 millions of the Estimates. Of this amount £902,000 is set aside under the heading "aeroplanes and spares" and includes £97,000 for experimental civil aircraft. Lord Swinton states that during the past year the experimental programme has been accelerated, and he refers especially to an aircraft designed for "high altitude." This aeroplane, designed and built by the Bristol company, is in an advanced stage of construction and should soon be flying. Lord Swinton also reveals that the wind channel equipment at government research establishments is being modernized and that more channels will be built.

The recent rapid advances in British civil aviation are reflected in a substantial rise in the appropriate vote, which at £908,000 is 28 per cent. higher than in 1935. The increase is attributed to "a series of far reaching developments in British air transport throughout the world, which are already in progress or in prospect."

A sum of £204,000 is included for improvement of ground facilities along the existing Empire air routes, to permit speeding-up of services and organizations of the modified routes which the new flying-boat fleet will use. Reference is made to the experimental transatlantic flights which Imperial Airways will undertake in the summer; £20,000 is included for payments to Imperial Airways in respect of these flights and £75,000 is provided to meet contributions that may be necessary in 1936 towards the cost of constructing the requisite flying-boat and land-plane bases.

AEROPLANES AND NAVY

Lord Mott, First Lord of the Admiralty, reveals in his comments on the Navy Estimates that 28 capital ships and cruisers are now fitted with catapults, and that 37 aircraft are embarked in the vessels so fitted. In addition, aircraft are carried in the "Nelson" and the "Frobisher," though these ships are not yet fitted with catapults.

He states that the Exercise which took place in the Atlantic for eight days last March provided most valuable experience in the operation of the aircraft of the Fleet in oceanic warfare over a prolonged period. "Weather conditions were suitable for flying throughout the Exercise, and the Fleet Air Arm carried out a full flying programme each day, embracing extended reconnaissance, striking-force operations and anti-submarine patrols.

"The value of the Fleet Air Arm to the Navy, the advantage which superior numbers of seaborne aircraft confer on a Fleet, and the necessity for their adequate Naval training, were again clearly demonstrated." Apart from the strategical and tactical experience gained, this Exercise also provided a searching and satisfactory test of the general efficiency of the Fleet as a whole.

Although ships were steaming at varying and often high speeds throughout the eight days and extensive flying operations were involved, no single case of failure or breakdown was reported."

A GEARLESS BUS FOR VANCOUVER

The Vancouver Island Coach Lines have ordered two streamlined Leyland oil-engined coaches for use on the Victoria-Nanaimo run. The coaches will be air-conditioned and a special heating and ventilating system will keep the interior at a pleasant temperature throughout the year.

A special "bonneted" type "Tiger" chassis fitted with a Leyland hydraulic torque converter will also shortly be shipped to Vancouver, and it will be the first Leyland gearless bus to operate on the island.

FINDING MEN FOR THE AIR FORCE

Big Leeway To Be Made Up

2,400 RESERVE PILOTS

London, March 22.

Two outstanding problems were discussed during the debate, last Tuesday, on the Air Estimates, the production of new aircraft for the expanding Air Force, and the enlistment and training of personnel for flying them and for the ground staffs.

The Under-Secretary for Air was able to promise deliveries "over the next three years of a substantially larger number of aircraft than during the whole seventeen years since we War." That is reassuring, although it is only another way of explaining the terms of the stated programme. Indeed, during most of the seventeen years referred to deliveries of aircraft to the Air Force were negligible.

In this matter, as in the all-important one of personnel and training, the country has now to fulfil the difficult task of making up leeway, and at the same time of drawing level with foreign Powers which are also still increasing their Air Forces.

The Air Ministry is taking necessary measures by seeking counsel and direction from outside, and this is of the greatest importance, for to a large extent demands for increased personnel for the Air Force conflict with the demand for skilled labour in the factories. There are many who would gladly join the Air Force, but are more needed in the work for which they have been trained. The aircraft industry took in 6,500 more workers during the last quarter of 1935.

TIMELY MEASURES.

Another difficulty is due to the distribution of skilled labour, which cannot easily be moved from localities and industries in which it is settled to regions in which it could now find employment of great national importance.

Production is proceeding at a fairly satisfactory rate, and the timely measures now to be taken will, no doubt, solve all problems. It has, however, been necessary to make provision for possibly even greater productive capacity by making arrangements for the manufacture of aeroplane frames at two of the biggest engineering works in the country, works which have at call a considerable number of men who can readily adapt themselves to this new work.

It may, however, be explained that such a measure is purely for production purposes: such firms are not aeroplane designing firms, and must ever take their cues from the select group of designers, whose duty it is to keep abreast of all developments.

So far, the Air Force has had no difficulty in obtaining the pilots and all the other men it needs, but it is probable that the effect of the new demands now being made for the Navy and the Army may be felt, despite the obvious and admitted fact that the Air Force has special attractions for the right type of men. It offers admission to a new field of enterprise, and the prospect of training which will be of value in growing engineering and transport industries.

RESERVE PILOTS

A very satisfactory increase in the number of non-commissioned pilots has been made from our resources in skilled mechanics. Retention of officers on the Active List who would otherwise have passed into the Reserve has weakened the Reserve to some extent.

Sir Philip Sassoon explained the nature of the measures which are being taken, and his statement that 800 fresh reserve pilots are to be enrolled direct from civil life in the present year, and also in 1937, and again in 1938, ought to meet with ready response, provided employers are willing to co-operate. Here, indeed, is a splendid opportunity for 2,400 suitable men for going to high standards in the service of their country, and for enjoying the real psychological exaltation that flying accords.

There remains one branch in which the situation is unsatisfactory, and that is the reserve of the non-flying branches of the Air Force. This must be maintained, because, in a national emergency the heavy demands of industry would make it impossible to create a sufficient reserve in time.

MR. BALDWIN AT HIS BEST

Mr. Baldwin, though just recovering from a bad cold, was in excellent form at the dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Beckett on Tuesday.

There was no formal toast list, but the health of the guests of the evening, Lord and Lady Linlithgow, was proposed by the Prime Minister in a short but delightful speech.

Mr. Baldwin invariably shines on such occasions, but he has never done better than on Tuesday night. The dinner, which was in honour of the Viceroy-designate and his wife, was one of the largest and most representative social functions held in London for a long time.

It was a great success, and Mr. and Mrs. Beckett, the latter now happily recovered from a long illness, received many congratulations.

SORRY HE SPOKE

During last night's debate on income-tax point of considerable importance to M.P.s was raised by Capt. Cazalet.

He said that M.P.s were entitled to set expenses up to £400, against their salaries, a statement which provoked a chorus of dissent.

Capt. Cazalet retorted that for 12 years he had claimed such expenses and received them.

Then he noticed Mr. W. S. Morrison, the Financial Secretary to the Treasury, looking grim.

Hastily Capt. Cazalet muttered that if he was wrong he was sorry he had brought the matter up.

A MIGRATION REVIVAL!

Mr. Lyons's statement on migration to Australia is taken in London as one of various signs of a general revival of interest in Empire migration.

Australia was the first of the Dominions to bring in drastic restrictions on immigration. Now she is the first to indicate once more a "warm welcome to our kinsmen".

In New Zealand the Prime Minister, Mr. Savage is speaking of redistribution of Empire population. In Saskatchewan the Legislature has expressed itself in favour of immigration from Britain.

This is of some significance, as in the prairie provinces of Canada British emigrants became unpopular with the invasion of harvesters at the end of the emigration boom.

TOO QUICK OFF THE MARK

Mr. Eden, in opening the debate, made undoubtedly the best speech of his career so far. He was interrupted only by cheers. Sir Austen looked proudly down on his one-time P.P.S. Mr. Lloyd George beamed across the gangway.

Mr. Lloyd George even seemed particularly delighted when Mr. Eden referred to him as occupying a rare place as a man who criticised his own legacy to history.

The Foreign Secretary's speech had a disconcerting prelude. As soon as the Clerk called out "Consolidated Fund Bill," Mr. Keen jumped to his feet. The cheers soon changed to shouts of "Order."

"Order," and Mr. Baldwin pulled the astonished Foreign Secretary down by the tail of his coat.

What Mr. Eden had forgotten was that his speech was to be made on the third reading of the Consolidated Fund Bill, and that the Committee stage had to come first. This stage, however, was finished in hardly more than a minute.

COURT MOURNING

Queen Mary has expressed the desire that everyone not connected with the Court shall go out of mourning for King George after April.

This announcement was made by Lady Howard de Walden, one of London's leading hostesses, at a party given at her home, Seaford House, Belgrave-square, to-day.

Lady Howard de Walden said that she had been given the message from Queen Mary through one of her Ladies in Waiting.

The Queen Charlotte's Hospital ball in May will be the first big social function in London, at which the 1936 debutantes will be seen out of mourning.

AIRMAN NAZI DIPLOMAT

Dr. Von Raumer, Herr von Ribbentrop's principal adviser on Russia and Far Eastern affairs, who will return with his chief to-morrow, was an airman during the war.

He was shot down by three French fighters after bombing Gen. Nivelle's HQ at Verdun in 1916.

He was wounded at a height of 12,000 ft, lost consciousness and regained it only when his machine had nose-dived to 2,000 ft.

He lost consciousness again as he landed it in a potato-field.

'MEN SO HELPLESS' MRS. BALDWIN

London, March 25.

Advice to wives was given by Mrs. Stanley Baldwin when she presided yesterday at an anniversary meeting at Queensway Hall, Queen's Road, Battersea.

"In my outlook I am a modern woman," said Mrs. Baldwin. "We know those of us who have to deal with men, how helpless they very often are."

"The best work a woman can do is to look after her man and see that he is able to do his work."

FIVE ESCAPES—ALL FAILURES

He made five attempts to escape. On one occasion he could see the lights of Geneva. On another he and his companion were actually on the frontier bridge before they were fired on.

Dr. von Raumer jumped over the bridge. His long fall was broken by a bush and he was recaptured. Each escape meant more rigorous confinement. It was only in 1920 that he was finally released.

Herr von Raumer's knowledge of his subject was first acquired before the war. He has spent most of his time since in Russia and the Far East.

THE KING'S GARDENING PLANS

I hear that the King goes nearly every week to inspect the gardens at Windsor, and is making plans for them as actively as he has done for the Port Belvedere gardens, writes a correspondent.

King George paid infrequent visits. He might be content with one visit a year—when the daffodils were in bloom.

The King has inherited his grandfather's taste for gardening. Edward VII laid out the gardens at Sandringham, and he once declared that next to being what he was he would have liked to be a landscape gardener.

Among the present King's specialities are: For Belvedere are rhododendrons, delphiniums, lily-ranunculus and lilacs. At Windsor, he hears, he intends to grow orchids extensively.

SONG AND DANCE

In Film At King's

"No pretty faces for me. I've seen them all my life. What I want is something with class!" As a master purveyor of entertainment in his role in "King of Burlesque," now at the King's Theatre, Warner Baxter utters that speech, before he launches into the search for "better things." Assisted by his two faithful friends, Jack Oakie and Alice Faye, Baxter has cut his path, in the theatrical world, rising from a 14th Street burlesque, to become a producer of Broadway extravaganzas.

But when lovely Mona Barrie of Park Avenue proves responsive to his suit, Baxter forgets all his old friends in the pursuit of the elusive beauty.

Of course there are surprises and disappointments for Baxter in the absorbing love drama which culminates, surprisingly enough, with a romantic attachment between himself and Miss Faye.

The entertainment of "King of Burlesque" centres about the exciting and gay production scenes, which 20th Century-Fox has provided. To the five scintillating tunes which Jimmy McHugh and Ted Koehler have provided, the stellar supporting cast, dances, songs and provides fun. "Lovely Lady" and "Shooting High" are two of the songs, already widely popular. Another hit is "I Love to Ride the Horses on a Merry-Go-Round" by Jack Yellen and Lew Pollack.

Prominent members of the supporting cast include Fats Waller, septa sonster; Dixie Dunbar, Nick Long, Jr., Kenny Baker and the Paxton Sisters, dance specialists.

BIG HEARTED HERBERT

"Big Hearted Herbert," a Warner Bros. comedy romance, coming shortly to the Queen's Theatre as the featured attraction.

There is an all star cast headed by the inimitable comedy team, Aline MacMahon and Guy Kibbee, whom audiences will remember for their hilarious team in work in "The Merry Pranks" and "Gold Diggers of 1933." The picture, based on an uproariously funny story by the famous author, Sophie Kerr, while largely comedy is spiced with a delightful romance with the charming Patricia Ellis and Phillip Reed in the roles of the lovers. Their affair runs the gamut of exceedingly rough paths, however, in the shape of paternal wrath on the part of a crabbed and crotchety parent.

Aline MacMahon, as the mother, takes a hand in smoothing the way for the lovers by taming her nagging and ill-natured husband by giving him a dose of his own medicine, which provides some, highly amusing and novel situations. Guy Kibbee in the title role, provokes the family discord by his stubborn insistence that his children be brought up in poverty and ignorance just as he himself had been, although he has attained affluence.

Other important roles include Helen Lowell as a comical once-a-week maid, Robert Barrat, Henry O'Neill, Marjorie Gateson, Nella Walker, Joy Ward and Hale Hamilton.

George Raft and Joan Bennett in "She Couldn't Take It"
A Columbia Picture

SHE COULDN'T TAKE IT

The widely-praised George Raft, Joan Bennett comedy-romance "She Couldn't Take It," will open at the Star Theatre to-day. Raft who first won the heart of American audiences in a series of gangster portrayals in "Scarace," "Hush Money" and "Quick Millions," reverts to this type of characterization in "She Couldn't Take It" for the first time in over a year. He is seen as the ex-convict Ricardo repaying his sins in the federal penitentiary, where he meets Walter Connolly, millionaire financier serving time for tax-evasion.

Connolly is impressed by the young felon's earnestness and determination to go straight, so that when death comes to him in his prison cell, his last words are a plea to Raft to act as executor of his estate and guardian of his petulant family.

What happens when Raft takes charge of the family and fortune despite the vigorous protests of the tempestuous Miss Bennett, her play boy brother, James Blakely, and her quip and poet patronizing mother, Billie Burke, accounts for the vivid and amusing screenplay which has won such spontaneous popularity.

Others in the cast are Lloyd Nolan, Wallace Ford, Alan Mowbray, Donald Meek and William Tannen. Tay Garnett directed the adaptation prepared by Oliver H. F. Garrett from a story by Gene Towne and Graham Baker.

"TWO IN THE DARK"

The lovely Erin O'Brien-Moore goes somewhat out of character to play a role in RKO Radio's mystery thriller, "Two in the Dark," headlined by Walter Abel and Margot Grahame, coming to the Alhambra Theatre on Wednesday.

Her piquant Irish beauty and charm naturally have established her as one of the most sought after romantic leads in motion pictures. However, in her current film, the former star of "Street Scene" stage production, is cast as a fiery Russian actress, whose striking appeal and temperamental pyrotechnics are one of the high-lights of the picture.

Carrying the "Two in the Dark" romantic interest is the lovely English actress Margot Grahame. Even her part is not the usual sugar-and-cream romantic part. She plays a destitute show girl who falls in love with a pitiful amnesia victim suspected of murder, and the role requires a highly emotional performance.

Gail Patrick, the third girl in the picture, is yet another type. She is a statuesque brunette with dark snapping eyes and an electric smile. She plays a sophisticated vampire role.

Zion Myers produced and Ben Stoloff directed the film.

THE MILKY WAY

A disposition to laughter does not denote a defective thinking organ, declares Dr. Frank G. Nolan, L.A. Angeles brain surgeon, after hearing Harold Lloyd's supporting cast laugh themselves into weeping, during the making of his new Paramount farce comedy "The Milky Way," now showing at the Queen's Theatre.

The medico insists that laughter not only refreshes the body but stimulates the brain, and aids clear thinking. "It increases the manufacture of one of the most important of the body's self-furnished stimulants—adrenalin, a

WHITE WOMEN'S TRAGEDIES IN THE EAST

An Account Rendered

(BY RONALD WOOLFREY)

Terrible stories of the hardships endured by white women in China, and Manchuria were recounted to me the other day by a British woman who has been living among them for more than a year. She is Miss Janet Mitchell, who has temporarily returned to Great Britain to act as honorary secretary to the British Appeal Committee. Twenty-two national organisations, from the Young Women's Christian Association to the Mother's Union and from the Salvation Army to the Church Army, are behind this effort to extend a helping hand to a hopeless army of perhaps 100,000 women who are being driven by destitution to prostitution.

"During the time that I lived with the White Russians at Harbin," said Miss Mitchell, "I taught English. Amongst many pupils was an almost destitute but highly educated woman, a widow with one daughter of sixteen. The girl got the opportunity of giving Russian lessons to a Chinese official in the railway service. At the time, the mother's income from two pupils was about a pound a month in English money—she was living on that and the few pounds she had saved from more prosperous years. What the daughter would earn from her pupils (little though it was, about sixpence an hour) would be a tremendous help. To cut a long story short, after the second lesson the girl had to discontinue her work, as the Chinese made it a condition that she should become his mistress."

For a few moments Miss Mitchell allowed her mind to rove over the host of similar cases with which her experience of the refugees is crammed. "That sort of thing is constantly happening," she said. "In a sense, this girl was more fortunate than most, as she had a Mother. The condition of the absolutely destitute women, girls and children is past description. Some have become white slaves at the tender age of eight."

A hopeless army, indeed! But there is one ray of hope. The League of Nations has decided to appoint a competent woman agent to co-ordinate measures on the spot to help them. But the League has no money to provide the necessary funds. £2,000 seems little enough, in all conscience. And the British Appeal Committee for Russian Women Refugees in the Far East has set out to raise part at least of the sum as speedily as possible. The time is short, and there is so much to be done.

secretion of the important adrenal glands. It steps up blood circulation. The body's chemistry thus works at a faster pace and brain action is accelerated."

Dr. Nolan demonstrated his theory to Dorothy Wilson, member of the cast, by testing her blood pressure and letting her watch its acceleration on the dial of the instrument when she laughed.

"The Milky Way" is the hilarious story of a timid milkman's (Harold Lloyd) rise to fame by dodging blows.

DEFEATING THE FIRE BOGEY

Fire-Resisting Suit

After years of research a fire-resisting suit has been produced which will resist temperatures up to 1,700 degrees Fahrenheit. Intended in the first place for use by salvage men, there is, obviously, wide scope for such suits; already they have been supplied to a number of fire brigades and as part of the equipment on aerodromes, but it is easy to see how useful they might also prove in factories, offices, buildings, schools and on board ship in the event of an outbreak of fire.

At a temperature of 1,700 degrees, a normally healthy man clad in one of these woven asbestos suits can remain in a fire for as long as 15 minutes without artificial breathing apparatus. Actually, such a high temperature is comparatively rare, and for practical purposes a much lower figure can be taken as that of salvage working conditions.

In addition to the full Bestobell outfit, there is also a lighter equipment weighing only a little more than the ordinary boiler suit, and complete with helmet, gloves, and boots. Asbestos gloves are now a common part of any fire-fighting equipment; with the best type it is possible for a man to hold a red-hot metal pipe for a long time.

MANY THRILLS

"Three Lives Ghosts"

With Richard Arlen heading a notable cast, comedy, drama and romance will romp across the screen of the King's Theatre on Wednesday. The picture is "Three Live Ghosts."

In many respects this photoplay is guaranteed entertainment. Originally a best-selling novel and a hit play, by Frederick S. Isham, it established new high records everywhere. Now it comes to the screen with a freshness and a sparkle that makes it superb entertainment.

The story concerns the adventures of three soldiers who escape from a German prison camp and return to London, to find themselves off to "Bea." For varying reasons they decide to remain so, and their escapades provide moments of hilarious comedy, thrilling excitement and tender romance.

Cecilia Parker, a comparative newcomer, who scored in the picture "Ah, Wilderness!" turns in her finest performance as Richard Arlen's sweetheart, Beryl Mercer is the Cockney mother and Charles McNaughton as her son are outstanding in the roles they first created on the New York stage.

Claude Allister, as a shell-shocked nobleman who steals his own baby, is a comedy highlight and the others in the cast—Dudley Digges, Nydia Westman, Jonathan Hale and Lillian Cooper turn in excellent portrayals.

"Three Live Ghosts" was produced for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer by John W. Considine, Jr., and directed by H. Bruce Humberstone from a screen play by C. Gardner Sullivan. It is excellent entertainment.

Around the Courts

A remand for 24 hours in order to retake finger prints was granted by Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday, when Law Sang, 37, unemployed, was charged with the theft of a watch and chain from Mo Kang Ching, of 589 Shanghai Street.

Inspector Portillon stated that Law visited Mo who later discovered that his watch was missing. Law admitted pawning the watch and chain for $3.50.

Charged with trespassing at the Kowloon-Canton Railway Station, So Tai, 24, street coolie, was fined $30 with the alternative of a month in prison at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday. Inspector Stimson stated that So was seen on the permanent way, near the "Flying Star." When arrested he was carrying about 10 lbs of artificial silk yarn. Mr. Cathie, Traffic Inspector, appeared as complainant.

Yip Shing, alias Chan Ho, 32, unemployed of 71, Apilu Street, was charged before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday with possession of an automatic pistol and 16 rounds of ammunition at Tai Nam Street, Sham Shui Po, without a licence. Detective Sergeant C. H. Goodwin who appeared for the prosecution applied for a week's remand, which was granted.

A sentence of six weeks hard labour was passed on Chui Pak-shi by Mr. S. F. Balfour at the Central Court yesterday for the theft of six pieces of teakwood from the new gymnasium at the University. Sub-Inspector Kirby prosecuted. The compound watchman of the University reported the theft.

Wan Fuk-kwai, 22, unemployed and Tsoi Pak-hing, 25, unemployed appeared before Mr. Balfour yesterday at the Central Court. Wan was charged with loitering in Cleverly Street with the intention of committing a felony, and Tsoi was charged with the larceny of a birdcage, the larceny of a glass bowl containing goldfish and with the unlawful possession of a wrist-let watch.

The complainant was Cheung Po, stall holder of 51, Cleverly Street. Wan was sentenced to a month's hard labour and Tsoi to two months' hard labour.

Chan Kau, 25, unemployed appeared before Mr. Balfour yesterday at the Central Magistracy charged with attempted robbery at No. 52, Ship Street, second floor. He was remanded for 48 hours in police custody.

Ng Tung, 46, unemployed, was charged at the Central Magistracy yesterday before Mr. Balfour with the larceny of six brass ladies. Sub-Inspector Mist, who appeared for the prosecution, said that at about 2.45 p.m. on the April 11, defendant was seen by a room boy taking the ladies from No. 145, Connaught Road Central. The alarm was raised and an Indian constable gave chase and caught the defendant. The ladies were valued at 80 cents.

Defendant was sentenced to a month's hard labour.

Tam Mo was sent to gaol for two months by Mr. Balfour at the Central Magistracy yesterday when he was charged with loitering. The prosecuting officer stated that Tam was found on the roof of No. 155, Leighton Hill Road by Mr. Abous. In view of the many recent larcenies in the district, he asked that a serious view of the case be taken.

Chan Choi was sentenced to a year's hard labour by Mr. Balfour at the Central Magistracy yesterday, for committing a breach of the Deportation Order. He was banished from the Colony for 10 years in December.

Pleading that he did not know the law and that he had obtained the wine from Chinese territory, Ng Shui, 52, farmer, appeared at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday charged with possession of Chinese spirits. He was arrested at Sha Tin Gap Road.

A girl aged 15 who would have been dealt with in the Juvenile Court and who was arrested with Ng was discharged.

At the station Ng said the wine belonged to the girl.

Inspector Chester Woods applied for a remand for 24 hours which was granted.

For keeping a brothel at 366 Shanghai Street, Li Tol, 40, was fined $50 at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday. Sub-Inspector T. Collins prosecuted.

A remand for 24 hours was granted by Mr. Macfadyen in a case in which Lo Sha Wak, 24, unemployed, was charged with soliciting for an immoral purpose in Parkes Street.

OUT ALL NIGHT

Missing Hikers Return

Pay, Comdr. Field and Pay, Lt. Osborne who went together with a party of hikers, that included Lt. P. A. R. Withers of H.M.S. Cape Town, caused a great deal of anxiety in naval circles on Sunday night with their non-appearance after the main body under Lieut. Withers had returned to their respective ships.

All anxiety was dispelled with the belated appearance of Pay, Comdr. Field and Pay, Lt. Osborne yesterday morning, after having apparently spent the night out in the open.

It now transpires that the two members became detached from the main party while on a holiday to Talmoshan, the highest peak on the mainland, and failed later to make communication with the main group as arranged.

A search party was being organised when the missing men returned safe and sound.

POLE IS FINED

Did Not Have Valid Passport

Thomas Paluch, 24, unemployed, of Polish descent, was charged at the Central Magistracy yesterday before Mr. Balfour with having arrived in the Colony on the motorship Ramages without the consent of the owners and entering the Colony without a valid passport.

The prosecution stated that Paluch arrived on Sunday morning. He was expelled from Hong Kong in 1935 but returned in the following month.

He was sentenced to a month in prison on each charge, the sentences to run concurrently.

AN ECHO OF 1859

South Africa's Empire Exhibition

The Empire Exhibition which will open in Johannesburg in September will be strongly supported by British manufacturers, some of whom are prize winners at exhibitions previously held in the Union, while others will be showing for the first time.

Seventy-seven years ago, at the Cape Town Exhibition of 1859, Hansomes, Sims and Jeffries Ltd., were awarded two first prizes by the Cape of Good Hope Agricultural Society for a single-furrow plough and a threshing machine. Even prior to this date the firm had been especially interested in the supply of agricultural implements to South Africa, for in one of their catalogues, dated 1851, there is a reference to certain of their ploughs being then in general use at the Cape.

REGULAR VISITORS

For nearly 60 years, representatives of this Ipswich firm have regularly visited South Africa, and during the present decade Hansomes have gone further and established their own branches in Cape Town and Durban. Much valuable assistance to the manufacturers has been given by farmers throughout the Union and the Rhodesias, and many implements of various kinds, as well as threshing and ploughing machinery, have been developed and improved, thanks to the co-operation of these enterprising agriculturists.

As an example it may be mentioned that it was as a result of one of their best known representative visits that the value of the disc plough in South African agriculture was made evident, and improved models have been regularly introduced, culminating in the giant Rhynadisc ploughs for burying trash on sugar cane plantations.

To-day the name of the firm is

KOWLOON'S NEW COURT

Will Be Opened To-day

After exactly 12 years of occupation, the Kowloon Magistracy at Yau-mat is used yesterday for the last time.

From to-day the court will be housed in the new structure recently completed in Gascoigne Road, King's Park.

The rapid development of the mainland has made the old quarters totally inadequate for when the old Magistracy was opened on April 14, 1924, there was only one magistrate and few cases were heard.

The old Magistracy was formerly the Yau-mat Police Station. From now on it will be used by the Revenue Department.

The new court house is an imposing addition to the mainland architecture, being in a fine position in King's Park. Built on classic lines with the facade flanked by colonnades, it has three storeys.

The ground floor is to be occupied by offices, two court rooms are on the first floor and the second floor will be used as residential quarters.

THEFT CHARGES

Kowloon Houses Robbed

Charged with the theft of property from two houses in Chatham Road, Ng Yuk-yung, 21, appeared before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday and pleaded guilty.

It was alleged he had stolen four pieces of Chinese clothing, five keys, a whistle pocket knife and a cigarette case from Sit Cheung, student, of 268 Chatham Road, and also an overcoat, from Mr. S. W. Alornin of 274 Chatham Road.

Crown Sergeant Banks stated that Sit was awakened about 3.15 a.m. on April 11. A search was made of the premises, and Ng was found under a bed. The keys, cigarette case and a pocket knife were found in his possession. Next to the main door of the flat were found four pieces of clothing which had been removed from a drawer.

At the station Ng admitted stealing the overcoat two days previously and pawning it for 50 cents.

Sentence of six weeks consecutive imprisonment on the two charges was imposed.

CLANSMEN CARRY COFFIN

Impressive Funeral Of Deceased Laird

London, March 23.
The funeral of Colonel A. H. Farquharson of Invercauld, Deeside, a neighbour and friend of the late King George, took place from Invercauld House to the family burial ground in Braemar Churchyard yesterday with simple and impressive ceremonial.

The Invercauld Highlanders were mourning the loss of their chief, and following a service at Invercauld House, six stalwart clansmen carried the coffin to the farm cart on which it was borne to Braemar.

At the head of the procession as it moved away to a slow march were the Farquharson Pipers, and three clansmen carried Colonel Farquharson's war medals, sword, and sporran.

DRAPED CHURCH

At Braemar the coffin was borne through a guard of honour of clansmen and representatives of the various Magnie lodges in Aberdeenshire West into the East Church, which was draped with Farquharson tartan.

The coffin was carried from the church by clansmen, and as it was lowered into the vault the pipers played a lament.

The chief mourners were Mrs. Compton Newby Hall, Ruthven (daughter); Miss L. Farquharson and Mrs. Levison-Gower (sisters); Captain Compton (son-in-law), and Mr. Levison-Gower (nephew).

as displayed in all parts of the world with the manufacture of a wide range of ploughs and agricultural machinery, and with lawn mowers of all classes, while in addition, electric motors, trucks and trolley buses form an important part of the activities of the Ipswich firm. An interesting South African order recently executed was for 50 electric trolley buses for the Cape Town Tramways.

FRIEND PAYS

Stolen Rent Is Restored

Tang Kan, alias Tang Shui-wan, 29, accountant appeared before Mr. Balfour yesterday at the Central Court charged with the embezzlement of $45, the property of Tang Kau, master of the Kwong Kee On shop, No. 182, Wing Lok Street.

Detective Sergt. Hunter stated that Tang was a collector of rents and on April 8 collected $45. He then asked for permission to return to the "country."

On April 11 it was found that the accounts were $45 short and the complainant went to the house from which the rent had been collected and there was told by the tenant that the rent had already been paid.

A friend of defendant who was in Court offered to make restitution. This offer was accepted and defendant bound over in a bond of $100 for a year.

FULHAM BEATEN

Wasted Chances

London, March 23.
Sheffield United beat Fulham in the other match in the semi-final round at Wolverhampton by two goals to one, and so two London clubs will not, after all, appear in the final round at Wembley.

Fulham, with some justification, probably consider that they were unlucky to lose, for in everything, except the important matter of shooting at goal, they were undoubtedly the masters of Sheffield United. Time and again Perry, with Johnson, drawn away from him, found himself in front of an almost open goal, but equally, as often he tried to dribble his way through the goal and so allowed the Sheffield goalkeeper to take the ball from off his feet. Smith, in the inside-right position, certainly did send in one or two good shots, but, playing back in the middle of the field, he was more concerned with the earlier work of the attack and it was quite impossible for him to be in two places at once. Arnold, who scored his side's only goal, showed flashes of brilliance, but Perry's lack of thrust enabled the Sheffield United defence to concentrate on Fulham's left wing, and Arnold's task was accordingly made all the more difficult.

Sheffield United's forwards, on the other hand, clearly realized that goals are the things that count, and, moving forward in a line, they took every possible opportunity of sending in a shot. Up to a point Dadds was well held by the Fulham defence, but, far from being worried by this, he turned his own difficulties into an advantage for his side by drawing the Fulham defence away from his inside forwards, and in spite of the fact that Keeping and Tompkins succeeded in holding Sheffield's right wing, Pickering was presented with just enough openings to win the match for his side.

Fulham began as though they intended to rush the Sheffield defence off their feet, and had Perry been a little steadier they might well have succeeded, but, after 10 minutes' play Pickering opened the way for Bird to score. Sheffield's first goal. The Fulham defence apparently expected Pickering, who had worked his way through from the half-back line, to push the ball through to Dadds, but, challenged by Hindson, Pickering passed out to the unmarked Bird, who gave Tootill no chance with a hard shot.

Fulham then missed a great chance of drawing level, for a free-kick, taken by Keeping, was headed across the goal-mouth by Perry, but Arnold, with the goal yawning at him, placed the ball yards wide. Smith, from some distance out, sent in a hard shot which struck one of the goalposts, and a moment later Perry had the misfortune to head a centre from Arnold just over the crossbar. Bad luck was not the only cause of Fulham's troubles, for Arnold once took the ball away from Hooper, and the fact that Johnson was forced to cover his right back left Perry unmarked. Arnold sent across an almost perfect centre, only for Perry, at point blank range, to miskick the ball hopelessly.

Immediately after half-time Dadds, receiving a through pass from Pickering at last, succeeded in eluding Gibbons, but instead of closing in on the Fulham goal he took a long shot, which went several yards wide. At the other end Wrayley made an even more glaring mistake, for at a range of about five yards he merely lifted a pass from Smith straight into the goalkeeper's hands.

Then, however, came Sheffield's second goal and with it the end of Fulham's hopes. Suddenly Pickering took the ball away from Tompkins and, turning quickly round, sent in a terrific drive which left Tootill standing still. Fulham fought back desperately, and they got some consolation when Arnold headed a long centre from Hindson past Smith, but for the rest of the game a packed Sheffield defence kept the Fulham forwards outside effective shooting range.

The attendance was officially given as 51,568 and the receipts £4,766. The receipts are a record for the ground.

The teams were:—
Sheffield United:—Smith, goal; Hooper and Cox, backs; Jackson, Johnson, and McPherson, half-backs; Barton, Dadds, Pickering, Barclay and Bird, forwards.

Fulham:—Tootill, goal; Hindson and Keeping, backs; Barrett, Gibbons and Tompkins, half-backs; Worsley, Smith, Perry Hammond, and Arnold, forwards.

R. A. LIEUTENANT MARRIED

St. Andrew's Church Ceremony

The wedding took place yesterday of Miss Violet Spinks, daughter of Major and Mrs. C.W.F. Spinks, to Lieut. Collingwood Ravenhill, R.A. The ceremony was solemnized at St. Andrew's Church, Kowloon, Rev. H. C. Davies, M.C., M.A., C.F., officiating.

The church was tastefully decorated for the occasion with flowers. The bride, wearing a classically cut white crepe rousse gown with a train, a high cowl neck line and a tulle veil held in position by a Russian head-dress, entered the Church on the arm of Lt.-Col. H. H. Blake, O.B.E., M.B.E., R.A.M.C., who gave her away. Miss Spinks also carried a bouquet of pink carnations and lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaids were Misses Rosamund Hancock and Sylvia Morris, who were dressed in peach coloured moire silk dresses, and carried bouquets of African daisies.

The groom, dressed in uniform, was attended by Lieut. Peter de N. Ramus R.A.

Leaving the church Lt. and Mrs. Ravenhill passed under an archway of swords, formed by fellow officers of the groom.

After the service, the reception was held in the R.A. Mess, Kowloon, where many friends gathered.

The bride's going away dress was of ginger-brown moroccan silk with hat, shoes, bag and gloves to match.

The honeymoon is being spent in the Netherland East Indies.

MACBEAN—MUIR

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the Union Church Kowloon yesterday when Miss Isobel MacBean, became the bride of Mr. William C. Muir, of the Dairy Farm Co. Mr. Muir who has been in the Colony for sometime, has been prominently associated with the European Y.M.C.A. on the sporting fields, and is also connected with the Canadian Baseball team, that made its debut in the local league last year.

OVERCOAT STOLEN

Young Woman Sent To Prison

Charged with the larceny of an overcoat from No. 15, Wing Shing Street and also with the receiving of stolen property at the same address, Yeung Lai Chun, 19, spinster, appeared before Mr. S. F. Balfour at the Central Magistracy yesterday.

Sub-Inspector Smith was for the prosecution. The complainant was Lo Kuen, 18, spinster. It was stated that defendant, who had been previously bound over, was seen by a District Watchman entering a pawn shop with the coat under her arm. She admitted taking the coat.

She was fined $50 or a month in gaol on the previous charge and to two months on the present one, the sentences to run consecutively.

KEEN RACING AT THE VALLEY

STRATHROY SETS NEW RECORD

Mr. D. Black's Three Firsts

Bright weather greeted racing fans yesterday when they turned up for the second day of the Third Extra Race Meeting of the Hong Kong Jockey Club, when in contrast to Saturday's attendance a larger crowd was present to witness some close finishes.

The ladies too turned out in larger numbers in their bright Easter frocks and added a touch to the scene, while the course was in a better condition than on the first day which made travelling on it much faster, with the result that fast times were recorded, which culminated in Strathroy bettering the record set up by Racing Heart for the One Mile 111 yards distance by 2 1/5 seconds in the Broken Hill Handicap.

Expert riding was seen to good advantage on the day's sport. In the Boa Vista Handicap it is worthy of mention that Mr. I. C. Harris on Boxing Eve did a nice bit of riding on the home stretch when he was strongly challenged by Ythan. With great presence of mind Mr. Harris gave Boxing Eve a breather for about four strides and then went on to win an excellent race by a short head.

Dividends on the whole were moderate compared to Saturday's. There were no outstanding payments made with the exception of the Daily Double which returned $81.70 to each of the 47 successful backers of Honeycomb Eve and Boxing Eve combination. Cash Sweep Dividends were also higher than those of Saturday's.

Some of the handicaps given yesterday needed more consideration. More care should be taken in handicapping ponies and in a handicap race a pony has no right to win by several lengths, covering the field at the finish with the proverbial sheet in what one likes to see.

Mr. Donald Black crowned a successful day's work by returning three firsts, a second and a third, while Mr. W. H. S. Davis made his return felt on the turf by coming in first twice and a third once with Mr. H. C. Pih coming next with one first, one second and a third, while Mr. I. C. Harris was able to return a first and three thirds.

MODERATE DIVIDENDS

SUGAR LOAF HANDICAP

In contrast to Saturday's racing weather a dry wind with a weak sun greeted the moderate attendance at the commencement. The track was on the hard side and all seven starters accepted the race.

Laughing Girl the hot favourite led from the start followed by Royal Highness and Dawn Star, Amberley coming up from the rear.

At the last quarter Amberley and Dawn Star shot out to the front and a titanic struggle ensued. It was a very close finish as these two ponies were going all out, neck to neck. Dawn Star managed to win by a short head. Laughing Girl was third.

COOLGARDIE HANDICAP

But After That and Halcyon were left standing at the start as Atlas the favourite took to the lead. It was not long after the Rock was traversed that Centre Court took the lead away from Atlas with Australian Boy a close second. At the quarter-mile bend Australian Boy shot to the front and gradually drew away, eventually winning by two lengths with Centre Court and Halcyon fighting for the second position. Centre Court bettered Halcyon by a head.

BOA VISTA HANDICAP "D" CLASS

Double Chance led for about 200 yards and was soon overhauled by Popular Star. Emergency Call went up to the third position as Philanderer came up to the second position. Seventeenth of September gradually forged ahead at the last quarter when Copper Idol who had been lagging behind made a spirited challenge but was somewhat balked by the leading ponies. The last 100 yards saw Seventeenth of September having to go all out to stave off defeat and was successful in beating Copper Idol by a length. Philanderer obtained third place at the expense of Double Chance.

EASTER STAKES

The Easter Stakes for "giants" attracted only four entries with Liberty Bay barred from betting. The barred pony took the lead and never looked back. Macaroni, King's Warden and Cossack's Beauty followed in the order. At the Football Stand Cossack's Beauty came up to the third position and at the half mile post King's Warden obtained the second place and from then on the race continued in the above order named. Liberty Bay's victory was only 3/5 of a second within the record set by Diana Bay which was 1.55.

MORRISON HILL HANDICAP

Bright View kept the start from its schedule when it started on a wild carousing. King's Justice had a short-lived lead when Harvest View took over the leadership at the half mile post. King's Bounty came up to the second position and by the last quarter Honeycomb Eve shot out to the front with Mistake Bay going through the bunch of horses hot on the leader's trail. The deficit was too much for Mistake Bay who had to be content with second place, while King's Justice was given a close race for third place by Sacko.

KELLET HANDICAP "C" CLASS
Bear Claw won a well judged race when the pony held on to the lead right up to the finish winning by three lengths from Boolat Bay. Great Hall who was well up at the start fell back allowing Boolat Bay to take second place, while the "hot favourite" Royal Consort by sudden burst of speed managed to obtain third place.

BOA VISTA HANDICAP "D" CLASS
One of the closest finishes to date was seen in the second leg of the Daily Double when Boxing Eve and Ythan battled out for the premier position in the last 200 yds. of the race, which Boxing Eve eventually won by a short head. Mike who led for the greater part of the race was left behind at the close when Night View gave a spirited spurt to obtain third place.

BROKEN HILL HANDICAP
Strathroy came in an easy winner after lagging behind all the way, and incidentally creating a new record for the distance by returning 1.56.2 bettering the previous record held by Racing Heart by 2 1/5 seconds. Snowy River led followed by Saucy Face and Shooting Star. In the last quarter Strathroy came up strongly to challenge Electron and gradually got away. The only other serious contender was A Grand Time rushing up at the last minute to obtain second place with Electron third.

KELLET HANDICAP "C" CLASS
Mr. H. C. Pih on Victoria Hall cleverly piloted the mount home four lengths ahead of its stable mate High Honour. King's Sceptre the favourite led most of the distance with the winner always trailing close behind. At the last quarter Victoria Hall got away all by itself to win easily with High Honour second and Flybynight third.

POKFULAM HANDICAP
Cassius led in the Novices' Race followed by Ocean View. These two ponies were well up in front until the last quarter when Cassius joined them. But Gold Sovereign surprised the field by coming up on the stretch to challenge the leaders and to win by two lengths from Ocean View while Cassius was a length and a half behind.

KOWLOON TIGER REPORTS

Villagers Organise Search

NO TRACES FOUND

Reports of another appearance of the Kowloon "tiger" in the vicinity of Kowloon Tong brought many people out searching for the animal on Sunday night and yesterday.

The hunt was made all the more keen by reports that a woman grass cutter was missing from her home and that her mutilated body had been found.

That the police had received no official report concerning the missing woman did not seem to dampen the ardour of the searchers. The residential area at the Waterloo Road terminus was the scene of great activity on Sunday night when many villagers gathered carrying a variety of weapons. Many were armed with stout sticks and poles and aided by electric torches and lanterns, carried out an extensive search of the foothills bordering the Kowloon range. No indication of the "tiger" was discovered however. No report of the animal having been seen has been made to the police.

SYMBOL OF SOVIETISM

Outer Mongolia means something more to Soviet Russia than a useful outlet for its goods and the fact that it is a strategic area between Japan and Siberia. The deeper meaning of Outer Mongolia, which students of Far Eastern affairs cannot afford to overlook, was emphasized by the recent elaborate reception in Moscow to Mongolian leaders.

For 14 years Outer Mongolia has been the only real Soviet government beyond Russia's borders, for the Soviet Republic in China proper has never become more than a portable administration attached to itinerant Red armies. Under Soviet tutelage, the people of Outer Mongolia have dispossessed their princes and lamas, have carried out reforms on the Russian model, and have aroused political consciousness in the Mongolian "proletariat."

Having assisted the Mongolian People's Republic for 14 years, having completely reorganized the economic and political system of this Asiatic people, it is now possible for Moscow to permit this "sister Soviet republic" to be overwhelmed by Japanese pressure? The answer—an emphatic "No" given recently by Stalin in an interview—has international implications.

Soviet statesmen have insisted from the beginning that they are creating, not only a new form of government for Russia, but a new world system. This notion still has an appeal to a large number of the Russian people, who are attracted by a feeling of "world mission." The Kremlin has persistently cited Outer Mongolia as an example of its substitution of "international socialism" for imperialism.

The claim that Soviet Russia is the "vanguard of world revolution," the defender of international socialism in all parts of the world, admittedly is regarded by Soviet statesmen as a powerful factor in case of war. Joseph Stalin and his associates never miss an opportunity to insist that Russia is the "socialist fatherland" for all "toiling peoples."

Outer Mongolia promises to become the first test for this belief, so persistently encouraged by Soviet statesmen. If Moscow were to permit its Red Army to stand idly by while the Japanese, described by Russians as Fascists, invaded the "sister Republic" of Outer Mongolia, then the Bolshevik claim that their Red Army has been built to defend an international system would be considerably weakened. It is safe to say that Soviet statesmen, in considering what they should do in case Japan attacks Outer Mongolia, are paying at least as much attention to this factor as to those of trade and strategy.

FEARS RAISED IN MANILA

Raid By Japanese Fishermen

Manila, Apr. 9. Further depredations into Philippine waters by Japanese fishermen causing alarm and protest from citizens affected were reported yesterday to commonwealth officials.

A group of Japanese fishermen was reported to have landed at Turtle Islands a few days ago and collected turtle eggs and island products. The Turtle Islands constitute some of the southernmost group of the southern islands. They were ceded a few years ago to the Philippines by the Dutch government.

President Manuel L. Quezon who is at present on a tour of inspection of Mindanao islands sent a stern inquiry to department of interior officials as to why no report has been made to him and inquired what action, if any, has been taken.

The President was reported to have been advised of these fresh Japanese incursions by Governor James Fugate of Sulu when the chief executive was visiting in Jolo last Tuesday. Governor Fugate apparently has wired the director of non-Christian tribes which report was transmitted to the Secretary of the interior but the Secretary was not advised.

Elpidio Quirino, secretary of the interior, who is aboard the Mayon on his way to confer with the President with other high commonwealth officials in Davao, is expected to take up this matter with the President. It was believed yesterday that in view of the interest taken in it by President Quezon it will be taken by him with the Japanese Consul General who now is in Davao also awaiting the President for a discussion of the Davao land question.

Officials of the Philippine Army were advised yesterday of the new incursions into Philippine waters by interloping Japanese fishermen for such measures as Philippine military officials may desire to take.

VISIT TO ISLANDS

The Turtle Islands are inhabited by Moros and Chinese who are the traders in the place. These islands fall within the jurisdiction of the Sulu Island groups.

The President's inspection party may pay a visit to Turtle Islands upon its return trip to Manila, it was understood yesterday. If the President finds no time to do this Secretary Quirino may be asked to visit these islands, it was gathered.

If a commonwealth official party is organized to visit these islands it also may visit another small island where Japanese citizens have established a fish cannery factory. The ownership of these group of islands has not been clearly established and it is believed that they belong to Dutch Borneo and not to the Philippines. It was suspected that the Japanese fishermen from these other insular groups are responsible for these reported incursions into Philippine waters in the south, using their fish cannery factory in one of the islands as a base.

TREATMENT OF CHINESE IN CUBA

Improvement In Sight

Nanking, Apr. 13. Better treatment of the Chinese overseas in Cuba is said to be in sight as the Cuban Government is giving favourable consideration to the recent representation made by the Chinese Legation according to information from the local diplomatic sources.

Goodwill and cordiality of the Cuban President towards the Chinese has given promise for better days for the Chinese nationals in Cuba. It is further understood.

ROTARIANS CONFER

Members From 16 Clubs

Shanghai, April 6. In October last year a new District of Rotary International was formed—the 81st District—comprising the fifteen clubs in Amoy, Canton, Cebu, Fochow, Hangchow, Hankow, Hong Kong, Hioho, Manila, Nanking, Peiping, Shanghai, Tientsin, Tsinan, and Tientsin. There are nearly 1,000 Rotarians within this new district, to which the new club of Wuhu has been added and into which others, in process of formation, soon will be incorporated.

The first District Conference is to be held in Shanghai on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next week and the Shanghai Rotary Club has made extensive preparations to entertain delegates from all the other fifteen clubs.

The Conference sessions are to be held at the International Club, Bubbling Well Road, and among the entertainments will be a garden party at "The Limit," 600 Hungjiao Road, on Monday afternoon; a buffet supper at the International Club on Monday evening; a dinner and entertainment at the Astor House Hotel on Tuesday evening; a luncheon with General Wu Te-chien at the Civil Centre, Kiangwan, on Wednesday; and a final banquet and ball at the Paramount Ballroom on Wednesday night.

The District Governor, Dr. C. T. Wang, will be in charge of the Conference, and special visitor is Dr. Crawford C. McCullough, a Past President of Rotary International, who has been specially sent from headquarters at Chicago. Dr. and Mrs. McCullough will arrive to-morrow by the S.S. Tatsui Maru, and will visit the Shanghai, Nanking, and Hangchow Rotary Clubs before the conference opens. Dr. McCullough is one of the leading men in the International Rotary movement. He is a charter member of the Rotary Club of Fort William and is a Past President of that club. He has served Rotary International as Governor of the old 19th District (now the 4th), member of the Official Publication Committee, the Revision of Code of Ethics Committee, Chairman of the Canadian Advisory Committee, Chairman of the Chicago Convention Committee, Chairman of the Extension Committee, and member of the North American Economic Advisory Committee. He was First Vice-President of Rotary International in 1920-21 and President in 1921-22. In 1931-32 he was Chairman of the committee studying replies to the questionnaire on Rotary administration and in 1932-33 Chairman of the committee on drafting enactments arising out of the Seattle Convention.

WAR RISKS AT LLOYD'S

Higher Premium

London, March 25. To-day the risk of war between any of nine of the principal European nations was covered at Lloyd's at a rate of five guineas per cent, the policy being for the next three months. Previously the risk of war between any European nations during the next six months had been covered at a rate of seven and a half guineas per cent, but it is doubtful whether this risk could be placed at less than ten guineas per cent at the time of writing. Rates will certainly go higher, not because the risks are considered to be getting worse but because the market for these speculative insurances is very limited, and as soon as underwriters who deal in them have written as much as they consider prudent higher rates have to be paid to tempt them to further commitments. An interesting risk effected during the past few days is one covering the contingency of French troops entering the demilitarized zone during the next three months, the rate paid being two guineas per cent.

It should be understood that five guineas per cent is virtually the minimum rate quoted on these out-of-the-ordinary risks, because there is not enough business to make a "book" over which losses, if they occur, can be averaged. Probably the rate of 2 1/2 per cent paid to cover a large amount of merchandise in Strasbourg against war perils for twelve months is far more representative of the real feeling of the market than the rates quoted on speculative contingency risks.

From my rather uncomfortable position among the cock-roaches on the top of one of the pillars, I noticed last Thursday night a marked improvement of general appearances. It was partly due to the fact that Thursday is an off-night, and people wear for it simple dinner-dresses and fairly safe colours. One vivid turquoise blue dress disappointed me. It was worn by one of those radiant blondes who sparkle too much to wear bright colours or flashing jewels.

Another blonde made the same mistake in a very pale colour, suitable for a party of extreme sophistication or extreme simplicity, but quite out of tune with the Gipsies.

I think the Army can be sorted from the rest of the crowd at any moment by the way they hold their partners—their arms dripping loosely round their victim's waist. Civilians don't know how to hold themselves, and are distinguished by that. The Navy I treated badly last time, so well let them off to-morrow.

Talking of things dripping, did you notice how that lurid vaulted ceiling above the dance-floor had dripped all over a pinky-orange dress? Rather a successful accident, on that particular wearer, though I don't advise emulation.

The cheek-to-cheek mode is creeping sheepishly into Hong Kong. It's no good telling me that sheep don't creep. You know what I mean. Some of our young ladies take their "Heaven" very lightly. I regret to say, and I have intercepted more than one wink from a very large eye that squints enquiringly from under the encroaching partner's curls, teeth, pimple, etc.

One day, when a girl in my party gets up and dances with someone from another party, thereby making numbers uneven, I shall collect the rest of my chickens and leave her there to take care of herself.

It's bad enough in a large party, but when it's a solitary host who suffers, his little tete-a-tete broken into by a horde of pink-cheeked hangers-on, the habit is not just uncouth; it's extremely rude. Incidentally, those gate-crashers deserve anything but the "radiant smiles" with which they are usually greeted. If they can't leave their girlfriends alone for one evening why don't they appeal, or organized cutting-in dances once or twice every night, and then, having danced for a few glorious moments with the "girl of their choice," absent themselves quietly and leave her in peace and her host with something other than the bill by which to know that he had taken someone out?

The honours list Thursday went to two black dresses; Anne Dodwell's—she should always wear dark and very simple dresses like that, so that the character of her face is not eclipsed by fierce colours or fussiness; modern and brilliant jewellery suits her; and Diana de Precourt's which was enhanced by that crisp three-quarter coat.

I noticed a wide gold lacquer bracelet; floating navy blue sleeves; a valiant pink-and-blue fairy god-mother; several white mess-jackets with satisfactory beginning-of-the-season freshness; a white dress that lost its effect because its wearer stooped; several gaping mouths ("drink and gaze and drink again") a witty, if one-sided epigrammatic conversation that challenged, as well as scorched, all but one participant.

The Grips gets too much much attention in the gossip columns. It's a lazy way of finding material, and the material is monotonous and rather disheartening usually. The streets are quite amusing at times.

In the mornings when they are full of hatless women-drivers; in the evenings when they are full of cinema and party-goers, hustling along in their rickshaws, as often as not putting the finishing touches.

Just now, particularly, with the sad efforts at Easter decorations.

EXCHANGE OF NOTES FOR SILVER

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, Apr. 13. Notwithstanding the adoption of paper currency for Kwangtung, the people in the country are still using silver coins as before November 4, 1935. Notes of the Kwangtung Provincial Bank are accepted subject to a discount of twenty per cent.

In all the counties, prices are stipulated whether in silver or paper money. There is considerable hoarding among the county people, who for years are accustomed to using only silver specie. Banknotes were not circulated to the interior until the past three years.

The Kwangtung Provincial Government has sent several agents to the counties to buy up the silver coins with notes. The usual premium of 20 per cent is offered as an inducement to the country people to give up their hoardings. All the buying agents travel on gunboats among the river towns, and armed guards protect on overland routes.

So far the Kwangtung Government has collected about $70,000,000 in silver coins mostly from Canton and nearby districts. The agents expect to buy at least $30,000,000 silver coins from the interior districts.

CHINESE NEWSPAPER CENSORSHIP

Petition For Relief

Shanghai, Apr. 13. A petition to relax the heavy censorship on Chinese newspapers was sent to-day to the National Government by the Tai Kung Pao, the Shih Pao, the Tai Mei Wan Pao and other vernacular papers. They have also circulated a world-wide appeal for their cause.

Nanking censors in Shanghai threaten to close down newspapers which do not submit their copies to censorship. Another threat is that recalcitrant papers will be denied postal facilities.

As Chinese papers publish news favourable to the Nanking Government, Chinese readers read Japanese papers for big stories. Two of the Japanese newspapers are published in the Chinese

MANAGED CURRENCY SITUATION

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, Apr. 13. The managed currency of Canton was reviewed this morning by Mr. Chin Tseng-ching, a member of the Kwangtung Provincial Government, before the weekly memorial service. The speaker said many obstacles have been overcome and that some misunderstanding has been cleared.

"China was forced to take this measure," said Mr. Chin, "owing to the silver purchasing policy of the United States. From July to October, over $400,000,000 dollars of silver had been sold to the United States, and if this were to continue China's silver would be exhausted."

The speaker said that the government is devising means and ways of stabilizing the exchange and to prevent the increase of commodity prices. Other measures, requiring consideration are what to do with the silver reserve and how to circulate the government notes to the interior.

Mr. Chin stated that the present managed currency was different from the paper policy of the late Dr. Sun Yat-sen. The latter scheme, which was not carried out, required the destruction of the notes after they had been taken back by the government bank.

SOVIET WITHDRAWAL FROM HARBIN

Harbin, Apr. 13. The authorities of the local Soviet Consulate-General, who are making every effort to send the remaining Soviet citizens to the Soviet Union, intend to see their withdrawal before May Day, May 1.

As an encouraging measure the Consulate-General announced recently that it will give Roubles 200 to each person as travelling expenses.

The Soviet Consulate-General is reported to be making arrangements with the Soviet Consulates at Manchouli and Pogradichay for the withdrawal of 49 families, comprising 151 persons, at Manchouli, Mankou, Ants and Sufenho.

Those who returned to the Soviet Union immediately after the transfer of the railway expressed the intention of coming to Manchouli in letters sent to the remaining Soviet citizens, it was learned.

POLITICAL DISORDERS IN DUBLIN

Over Hundred Injured In Pitched Battle

(Hong Kong Daily Press Special)

Dublin, April 13. Serious political disorders occurred here on Easter Sunday during the Republican demonstrations held in memory of the Irish Republican leaders killed during the Easter revolt of 1916. During a pitched battle between Communists and the Nationalists at least 100 persons were injured.

The riot was eventually dispersed by the police after the arrival of strong reinforcements. The Communist deputy, William Gallagher, was attacked and beaten up by the Nationalists who had assembled in front of the Post Office building.

REVOLT URGED

"It is the duty of all Irishmen to overthrow the present regime which was forced on Ireland by Britain," unite the two Irelands and proclaim an independent Irish Republic," declared the leader of the Irish Republican Extremists, Maurice Twomey, speaking at Boyle during the demonstration held in memory of the Irish Republicans who lost their lives in 1916.

If there was another World War, Ireland would not fight on the side of England, said the speaker.

The Italo-Abyssinian conflict had shown the small states of the world not to have any confidence in the League of Nations.

STONES THROWN

Dublin, April 12. About 100 persons were injured in disturbances in Dublin to-day when a procession of the Irish Republican Army, commemorating the "martyrdom" of the victims of the 1916 rebellion clashed with on-lookers.

All the way along the route from the centre of the city to Glasnevin Cemetery large crowds cheered or booed the procession. Members of the Republican Congress and Communists were occasionally attacked by sections of the crowd. Sometimes stones were thrown. Blows were exchanged frequently.

At one point the police drew their batons.

The Communist sections were attacked all along the route of march.

Finally, at the gates of the cemetery, the shout was raised. "This is a Catholic cemetery. Don't let the Communists in."

The crowd immediately threw itself upon the Communists. Among those mixed in the melee which followed, inside the cemetery itself, was the Communist Member of Parliament, Mr. Gallagher, who was struck but not injured.

LAST OFFICIAL ACT IN CHINA

Sir Alexander Cadogan Sails For Home

Shanghai, April 6. Performing his last official act in China as H. M. Ambassador, Sir Alexander Cadogan, who has been appointed Deputy Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, inspected a guard of honour of the 1st Battalion The Lancashire Fusiliers at a brief but colourful parade held in the grounds of H. M. Consulate-General at 11.30 a.m. yesterday. In the evening, leaders of the British community in Shanghai, members of the staffs of the Consulate-General and the Embassy went down to the Empress of Canada to bid farewell to Sir Alexander, Lady Theodora, and the Misses Patricia, Cynthia, and Gillian Cadogan. They sailed in the Empress of Canada at 7.30 p.m.

Shortly after 11 o'clock yesterday morning the guard of honour, composed of 25 files, the full complement befitting the Ambassador's rank, and the regimental band were drawn up on the main lawn of the Consulate, with Captain E. W. Oxenford in command. At 11.20 o'clock, to the roll of the drums, the guard presented arms and the Colours, borne by 2nd Lieut. R. V. McDonald, was carried to the head of the party.

A large number of interested spectators watched while Sir Alexander Cadogan, accompanied by Brigadier F. S. Thackeray, Commander of the British Forces in the Shanghai Area, Major E. Ainger, Brigade Major, Sir John Brennan, H. M. Consul-General, and Group Captain R. P. Willock, H. M. Air Attaché, inspected the Guard. He then took the salute at the main gate as the guard marched past to the stirring tune of "The British Grenadiers."

The inspection over, Sir Alexander returned to the Consulate-General's residence, while the guard marched round by Soochow Road and Yuen Meng Yuen Road to re-enter the Consulate grounds by the rear entrance, to be formally dismissed. (N.C.D.N.)

OFFICIOUSNESS IN CEYLON

Clergyman Joins In Protest

Galle, Mar. 24. Resentment at what was described as "brusque officiousness" on the part of those in charge of the arrangements at the civic reception to His Excellency the Governor yesterday was expressed by many persons who were present on cards of admission issued to them by the Chairman of the Galle Municipal Council.

Among such persons is a highly respected clergyman, who has written to the Chairman of the Municipal Council, protesting against the way in which he was treated in the Pavilion shortly before the Governor's arrival. Some others too have protested against this "officiousness."

Of those present only those who were to be presented to the Governor were allowed to be in the Pavilion, although a good many others could have had standing accommodation in the Pavilion behind the favoured few. Among those who were not presented to the Governor were clergymen and professional men of standing. Shortly before the Governor's arrival, they were ordered to stand out of the Pavilion.

The pressmen too were not allowed to be in the Pavilion. In the past pressmen were provided with a table and chairs just by the dais on which the Governor sat. Yesterday there were no such facilities, and the pressmen had to stand behind a group of ladies in a temporary annex to the Pavilion about ten yards away from the Governor's seat, on the left side. His Excellency's speech was hardly audible to the pressmen. Consequently, they were not able to take a full note of the speech. To take down what they had reported they had to stretch their necks.

MANCHU-MONGOL BORDER

Further Clashes Expected

Ulanbator, Apr. 13. Official sources disclosed to-day messages from Ulanbator saying that a concentration of Japanese and Manchukuo troops in the vicinity of Dzagas, near Lake Buir, is causing the expectation of further clashes between Japanese and outer Mongolian troops, similar to those which occurred on last Tuesday and Wednesday.

Official information from Ulanbator states that a Japanese-Manchukuo detachment in three trucks was repulsed on Tuesday after attacking an Outer Mongolian border post in the Dzagas district.

On Wednesday morning the message says, 200 Japanese and Manchurian troops concentrated near a fisherman's house situated two kilometers to the north of Dzagas and opened fire but later withdrew under cover of darkness because of numerical weakness.

FRENCH PEACE PLAN ALREADY DEAD

London Journal's Views

(Hong Kong Daily Press Special)

London, Apr. 12. "The French Peace Plan was already dead," declares on Sunday the "Observer's" famous editorialist, Garvin, in an article critically analysing the French proposals. "The French plan is an astonishing document such as could only be prepared by a weak government shortly before the elections," writes Garvin adding that "it must be said that if the German proposals are showing certain omissions, then the French proposals are completely impossible."

The French plan, says the famous British journalist, is the election poster replete with the most fantastic exaggerations which could be elaborated by fanatics pretending to speak in the name of the League of Nations. In summing up his opinion, Garvin points out that through the establishment of the European commission proposed in the French plan, France and Soviet Russia would obtain a complete ascendancy over Europe.

DAVAO BAY LEASES

President Confers With Japanese

Manila, April 13. The President of the Philippines, Mr. Manuel Quezon, conferred with Japanese officials at Davao during the Easter week-end in regard to the illegal leases held by Japanese hemp farmers at Davao Bay, but nothing has yet been divulged.

The President is expected to make an announcement at any time.

An earlier cable from Manila on April 8 stated:—

It is rumoured from Davao Bay that threats have been made against the life of the Philippines Secretary of Agriculture and Commerce in view of his efforts to clear up the question of land leases illegally held by Japanese hemp farmers in that district.

The Secretary of Commerce and Agriculture, accompanied by the Secretary of the Interior and the Secretary of Justice left for Davao Bay yesterday to join the President. These officers of government, together with the Japanese Consul-General from Manila and Japanese business men, will attempt to settle a complicated situation.

An order for the ejection of the Japanese hemp growers was issued some time ago but has not been acted upon.

Meanwhile, three solutions are being discussed in official circles. The first is that the Government should purchase the lands held by the Japanese. The second is that they allow the Japanese time to wind up their affairs and leave the Government to take control of their lands. The third, a drastic plan, is that the Japanese be ejected forthwith.

Japanese investments in Davao Bay are estimated at 30 million pesos, but the third solution of the problem, immediate ejection, is the most likely procedure. The Japanese would be allowed to cultivate the land until their illegal leases expire. It is suggested, whereafter the Government would assume control and dispose of their property as it thinks fit.

During the interim, it is believed the Government will require part of the income derived from the lands.

DAVIS CUP TENNIS

Clean Sweep By America

Houston, Apr. 13. The United States made a clean sweep of Mexico by winning the remaining two matches in the Davis Cup tennis series to make a total of five straight wins.

The two remaining matches were singles in which Bliscy Grant and Donald Budge recorded further victories. The former had a prolonged battle in the second set which went to 24 games before he annexed it. The results were: Bliscy Grant (U.S.) beat Esteban Reyes 6-4, 13-11, 6-2. Donald Budge (U.S.) beat Daniel Hernandez 6-1, 6-1, 6-3.

SYMBOLIC VOLL IN FRANCE

Trend Of Public Opinion

(Hong Kong Daily Press Special)

Paris, April 12.

The paper "le Journal" publishes the latest results of its poll by which the names of the four statesmen enjoying the greatest confidence of the French people are to be established. Pierre Laval is still leading the list with 38,364 votes. Andre Tardieu follows with 23,552 votes while the third place is held by Mandel with 18,904 votes.

The National Deputy, Franklin Bouillon is fourth with 9,478 while the present Foreign Minister, M. Flandin obtained 9,368 votes, thus securing fifth place in the paper's popularity contest. The question: "do you believe that the European question is dependent on a Franco-German reconciliation?" was answered by 78,169 persons in the affirmative, while 20,744 replied with "no." To the question: "do you believe that France will reach an agreement with Germany?" 69,161 persons replied with "yes" and 26,278 with "no." The question: "do you have confidence in the Franco-Russian pact?" obtained only 13,064 "yes" votes while no fewer than 78,368 showed their lack of faith in the pact with Soviet Russia by replying with "no." The fourth question: "do you believe that the League of Nations will succeed in building the basis for a permanent European peace?" elicited merely 17,756 "yes" votes from the paper's readers while 72,792 persons replied to the question with "no."

EMPIRE AIR- MAILS

Re-Arrangement Of Schedules

In order to ensure the best possible air-mail facilities for the greatest number of points along the Empire routes, alterations are to be made in the scheduled dates of departure from London of the Imperial Airways' services to Egypt, India, Malaya, and Africa.

These re-arrangements will, in many cases, result in the saving of from one to three days in the time taken to obtain replies to letters sent to and from London by air-mail.

The alterations will become effective with the departure from London of the eastbound Empire air-mail on 18th March, and with the departure of the southbound Empire service on 20th March.

Under existing schedules east-bound services leave London each Tuesday for Egypt, Palestine, Iraq, India, Siam, Malaya, and each Saturday for Egypt, Palestine, Iraq, India, Siam, Malaya, and Australia.

Owing to the re-arrangement the service for Egypt, Palestine, Iraq, India, Siam and Malaya which would normally have left London on Tuesday 17th March will leave on Wednesday, 18th March, and thereafter every Wednesday. The Saturday service from London will be unchanged.

On the Africa route, under the present schedules, the two weekly departures from London for Egypt, Sudan, Uganda, Kenya, Tanganyika, North and South Rhodesia, and the Union of South Africa, are on Wednesdays and Sundays. Under the new schedules coming into force on 20th March the departures will be changed to Fridays and Tuesdays. There will be no dispatch from London for Africa on Wednesday, 18th March.

SAVING OF TWO DAYS

As indicating the improved facilities that these re-arrangements will provide in obtaining replies by air to letters dispatched to and from various destinations on the Africa route, it may be mentioned that two days will be saved on return flights to and from Khartoum, and two days on return journeys between London and Nairobi, while the saving will be three days on return air-mails between London and Johannesburg and London and Cape Town.

On the India route alterations will enable a clear day to be saved on return air-mail services between London and Karachi and London and Singapore.

No alterations will be made in the overall timing of the various Empire air-mails, and there will be no alterations in the schedules of services inward-bound to London, with the exception that the service westbound from Malaya, Siam, India, Iraq, Palestine, and Egypt will be due to reach London on Thursdays instead of Fridays, commencing with the service due on Thursday, 26th March, 1936.

The new service to West Africa via Khartoum, which at present connects with the Sunday service to Africa from London will in future connect with the African service leaving London on Fridays, commencing with the departure on the 20th March.

Rome, April 13. A census throughout the country will be taken Tuesday week. The newspapers are featuring an increase in population since Emperor Augustus and it is estimated that the present population is about 45 millions.

LONDON LETTER

Items From All Quarters

London, Mar. 27.
I understand that the Government bill to readjust Ministerial salaries—its introduction depends on the attitude of the House tomorrow towards Mr. Macleay's resolution—will apply to the present Parliament, writes a correspondent.

Herbert suggestions to remedy the existing anomalies have been made with the proviso that they should take effect only in the succeeding Parliament.

If the Government decides to take the matter in hand it will make a change in an arrangement which has lasted since 1860.

In that year the First Lord of the Treasury's salary was first fixed at £5,000.

The Postmaster-General was the next Minister whose salary was determined at its present rate of £2,300. This was done in 1789.

Then in 1831 the Chancellor of the Exchequer, the Secretaries of State and the First Lord of the Admiralty were each given £5,000 a year. The Lord Chancellor's £10,000 salary dates from 1852.

"GATECRASHER" AT THE COUNCIL.

The League Council is not often "gaterashed," I understand, however, that Prof. Jeze, the French lawyer who represented Abyssinia at the League at the outbreak of the war, attended the Council's last private meeting.

Abyssinia is not a member of the Council, and Prof. Jeze is not the official Abyssinian representative in London.

Members of the Council noticed Prof. Jeze's presence only at the end of the meeting.

THE R.H.G. ABBREVIATES

Answering questions in the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Eden used the contraction "H. M. G." Realising that the House was a little bewildered he quickly added, "I'm sorry—His Majesty's Government."

The contraction is a familiar one in Whitehall. It would, however, be confusing if all the Whitehall abbreviations came to be used in the House. Among them are "F.O.", "P.M.", "P.M.G." and "F.S.T." (Financial Secretary to the Treasury).

Why the right honourable Gentleman should have used the abbreviation while reading from the text of his answer is a mystery.

Foreign Office documents always use the full words. "His Majesty's Government."

DEPUTIES COMING AND GOING

While Signor Mussolini cast aside the Italian Chamber of Deputies in favour of a National Council of Corporations, Herr Hitler provides himself with a brand-new Reichstag.

The life of a Deputy has not been arduous in either country in recent years.

Reichstag members are paid £800 a year. As the House now meets normally twice a year and then sits for not more than about two hours, Nazi legislators receive some £2 10s a minute.

The German and the Italian Deputies have both enjoyed the privilege of free travel on State railways. The Italians, however, were paid only a little more than half the German salaries.

On the other hand, within the Chamber building in the Piazza Montecitorio at Rome, all drinks and smokes are free—"on the House," as it were. "This is an advantage over the House of Commons which the new Council will no doubt endeavour to retain."

TAKE-IT-OR-LEAVE-IT SYSTEM

A similar system of election has prevailed both in Italy and in Germany. In Italy a list of candidates, to be accepted or rejected as a whole, is drawn up by the party and presented to the electorate. I reproduce to-day a ballot paper for the Reichstag elections. From this it will be seen that there is no "list."

Those who do not wish to vote for Herr Hitler and the Nazi list can record their dissent only by spoiling the paper. Only in large centres, I imagine, would this be a safe proceeding.

The ballot paper is identical throughout Germany except for the name of the voting area (wahlkreis), which in my illustration is left blank.

The paper as photographed is duly filled in with a cross over the printed circle.

1 GENERAL—1,500 PRIVATES

In New York this week the "Headquarters Papers" of the British Army in America from 1775 to 1783 are on public exhibition for the first time.

For 125 years these papers were in the possession of the Royal Institution. They recrossed the Atlantic in 1929, when they were sold to Dr. Rosenbach.

Mr. John D. Rockefeller, jun., has since bought them for the Colonial Museum at Williamsburg.

In the collection is the letter from Washington to Gen. Howe and Gen. Burgoyne to accompany the Congressional Resolutions of July 10, 1776, which amounted to a declaration of war.

There is also an amusing Memorandum of Equivalents from Gen. Howe to the Commissioners for the Exchange of Prisoners. By this a Lieutenant-General equals one Major-General and one Brigadier, or one Brigadier and two Colonels.

Taking the rank and file as the unit a Lieutenant-General counts as 1,500, a Colonel as 187, a subaltern as 12, and a "serjeant" as 3 privates.

MODESTLY ABSENT

No doubt could be entertained as to the feeling of the House of Commons yesterday about Mr. Macleay's motion on Ministerial salaries. It was overwhelmingly in favour of revision.

Throughout the debate Mr. W. S. Morrison was present on duty and duly noted the sense of the House, but modestly kept most other Ministers away from the Treasury Bench.

When Mr. Macleay opened the discussion the Prime Minister and Sir John Simon were the only members of the Cabinet in the House. Neither stayed more than a few minutes.

Capt. Margesson, the Chief Whip, entered the House while Capt. Cazalet was speaking. "It is difficult to deal with the salary of the Patronage Secretary while he is sitting in the House," Capt. Cazalet observed.

At once the Chief Whip rose, smiling broadly, he left the Chamber.

PRIME MINISTERS' SALARIES

Although, as I pointed out the other day, the First Lord of the Treasury's salary of £5,000 was fixed in 1660, at least up to 1834 the Prime Minister was better paid than he is now, apart from the fact that the value of money has greatly diminished in the last 100 years.

Sir Robert Peel in 1850 told the committee which was then inquiring into the matter that Lord North, Pitt and Lord Liverpool, when they were Prime Ministers, also held the Lord Wardenship of the Cinque Ports.

Lord North in 1780 drew in all about £10,400 a year. Peel himself, when he formed the short-lived Tory Cabinet of 1834, became First Lord of the Treasury and Chancellor of the Exchequer.

He could have taken the double salary of £5,000 apiece, but accepted the suggestion of an earlier committee of 1830 that the holder of the two offices should be content with £7,500.

NOT A LIVING WAGE

Peel found, however, that to combine the two was impossible, and the Prime Minister has since then received only £5,000, even if he performed other duties as well.

Yet in 1850 Lord John Russell declared that he had never had a debt in his life until he became Prime Minister.

When asked:

With respect to the whole of those First Lords of the Treasury whom your lordship has now enumerated, with the exception of those who had large private fortunes, is it not a matter of notoriety that they all died in debt?

Lord John had to answer in the affirmative.

QUEEN MARY'S SURPRISE VISIT

Queen Mary, wearing deep mourning, paid a surprise visit to Adelphi-terrace, London, yesterday, and went over the buildings erected by the famous Adam brothers, before they are pulled down to make way for a modern estate.

She went into the house where David Garrick lived, and walked through the arches and passages where Charles Dickens played as a child.

Representatives of the owners explained how the site is to be developed.

"THE FACE OF MOTHER INDIA"

Not content with the act that it has already been banned in India, I hear that great efforts are now being made "behind the scenes" to ban Miss Katherine Mayo's new book all over the world. This is a distinctly optimistic venture.

BRISK BUSINESS

At The Prague Fair

Prague, Mar. 15.

This year's Prague Spring Fair, a show of 233 exhibitors, was characterised by a record participation of foreign visitors, surpassing by far the number of several last years. This increase is evaluated up to 40 p.c. over the last Fair's level.

There came twice as many buyers from England, Switzerland, Holland, France, Belgium and Scandinavian states than in Spring 1935. Remarkable too was the number of importers from overseas, especially from U.S.A., South America, Australia and South Africa.

The good Fair business is due to a large measure to the participation of renowned Department Stores and Buying Syndicates from all parts of the World. In the glassware, china, pottery, toys, metal goods, leather articles, household and kitchen equipment lines business results were best. It is remarkable that also Czechoslovak machine manufacturers did better export business.

"PERMANENT" MINISTER

London, March 25.

Sir Philip Sassoon, when he introduced the Air Estimates in the House of Commons last night, was performing the duty for the fifth year in succession. No other Minister connected with the Services can claim such an unbroken record.

He can also claim to be the only member of the Government whose post has not been changed in the many reconstructions there have been since August, 1931.

As he also had 4 years at the Air Ministry under Sir Samuel Hoare in the last Conservative Government, Sir Philip Sassoon's familiarity with his subject—as shown in his speech—is understandable.

AIR-MINDED—WITH REGRET

The speech was not unmarked by those idiosyncrasies or enunciations to which I recently, referred. After pronouncing "despite" as though it had no final "e," he confused Mr. Churchill by pronouncing "prices" as though it rhymed with "crisis."

Mr. Churchill interjected, "What crisis?" Sir Philip retorted, "No—prices."

In his peroration he referred to the "Weis film, 'Things to Come.'" Sir Philip hinted that he was one who would not welcome the over-mechanised world Mr. Wells foresees—a point on which Mr. Baldwin holds similar views.

Air-minded Sir Philip Sassoon stressed this by his one quotation—from Cervantes—"To her hurt she got wings."

Called "The Face of Mother India," it criticises the Hindus as strong as did her first book, which caused Miss Mayo to be burnt in effigy in the main streets of Calcutta and Bombay.

This didn't prevent the American authoress from visiting India again soon after.

MR. BALDWIN UNMOVED

Her opponents in this country have already communicated with Mr. Baldwin and the Secretary of State for India, Lord Zetland.

Not getting much change there, they approached Major Attlee, and I hear that the Leader of the Opposition has promised to raise the question in the House of Commons.

The Soviet, French, German and American Ambassadors have also received protests on the subject.

Meanwhile, Miss Mayo, I imagine, is smiling happily. She couldn't possibly have got better publicity for her book.

THE KING'S ROOMS

The King has now decided which private rooms he will use at Buckingham Palace, and I hear that they are soon to be redecorated.

Plain pastel colour schemes will predominate, pale green being the shade the King likes best for interiors.

Some of his present furniture will be transferred from York House, including Chinese lacquer pieces and the cocktail-cum-radiogram cabinet made especially to his order last year.

THERE'S A MORAL HERE

There's a good story going the rounds about Mrs. Osborne, formerly the much-publicised Miss Primrose Salt, who is now back in England following her marriage in India.

She started the world of fashion some time ago by appearing with earrings made of Lieutenant's shoulder "pips."

Not to be outdone, another girl very popular in the Army procured major-general chevrons, and fixed them to her ears with wire.

She got blood poisoning.

ARSENAL'S CUP TAKINGS

Total Of £20,000

London, March 23.
Arsenal, who qualified for the F.A. Cup Final by defeating Grimsby Town on Saturday, will clear £20,000 from the competition this season.

Their six ties to date have attracted a total of 329,459 spectators, with gate receipts of £28,687.

Only half this sum goes to Arsenal, as the receipts are shared. A place in the final, however, is worth another £25,000 to them.

Sheffield United, who will meet Arsenal in the final on April 25, have played before 249,938 people in the cup-ties. The total receipts were £17,775.

Arsenal, who have reached the final for the fourth time in nine years—they won the Cup in 1930—now face a tremendous ticket problem. Cup Final teams are each allotted 10,000 of the 93,500 tickets available, but only 1,800 are for seats under cover.

The allocation is 8,200 at 2s 6d, 2,000 at 5s, and, of the covered

ONLY £166 FOR JAREZ BALFOUR DIVIDEND

London, March 23.
A Dividend of seven-eighths of a penny in the £ is to be paid to those having claims against the personal estate of Jabez Balfour.

Balfour died in 1908 shortly after his release from prison, after serving a sentence of 14 years' penal servitude for fraud. Companies with a capital of £8,000,000 which he controlled had failed.

Three previous dividends, amounting to 6s. 1 1/2d. in the £, have been paid to the 35 creditors who lodged proofs of debts against his personal estate.

The dividend now to be paid to these original creditors (many of them have since died) becomes available as the result of the sale of shares in which Balfour was interested.

The amount now for distribution is about £166. It is expected to be the final payment.

BEST RESULTS SINCE 1929

British Insulated Cables

London, March 23.
The results disclosed by the accounts of British Insulated Cables, Limited, are the best since 1929. Net earnings at £493,307 show an increase of £25,000 and are equal to over 271 per cent. on the ordinary capital of £1,068,688. A feature of this company's finances, and one of the sources of its strength, is the large proportion of profits appropriated to reserves in the past, and the board now make a further allocation of £100,000 to the reserve, making it £1,520,000. In addition, there is a dividend equalization account of £300,000, while the "carry forward" amounts to £303,880. As already announced a bonus of 5 per cent. is added to the dividend of 15 per cent. which has been paid for many years, making a total of 20 per cent. for 1935. The board attribute the larger earnings to increased turnover, new plant and buildings, and greater efficiency. The principal movement among the assets is an increase from £1,147,000 to £1,497,000 in the investments other than those in subsidiaries. Floating assets amount to £3,548,000, out of total assets of £6,428,000. Current liabilities are £862,000, inclusive of contingent reserves of unspecified amount.

ROYAL EMPIRE SOCIETY AWARDS

Essay Competition

The results of the School Essay Competition held in 1935 by the Royal Empire Society have just been published. It is interesting to note the different parts of the Empire from which entries were received. They included: Great Britain, the Irish Free State, Australia, Canada, Ceylon, Egypt, Federated Malay States, India, Jamaica, Kenya, New Zealand, Nigeria, Northern Rhodesia, Southern Rhodesia, South Africa and the Straits Settlements. In Class A, (Subject: "The uses of the cinema and the radio for Empire Education and trade.") which was open to candidates between the ages of 16 and 19 years of age, Norman J. Earl of Bristol was awarded the first prize, while Elizabeth M. Cottle of Auckland, New Zealand was placed second. In Class B, (Subject: "What parts of the Empire are produced in your neighbourhood?") which was open to candidates between the ages of 14 and 16 years of age, Agnes Sylvia Jackson of Liverpool was placed first and James R. Kirkir of Oamaru, New Zealand, came second. In Class C, (Subject: "If you were offered a holiday in some part of the Empire other than your own, where would you like to go and what would you hope to see?") open to children under the age of 14, the first prize was awarded to Robert Owen Davies, of Oamaru, New Zealand and the second prize to Ruth Gibson of Liverpool.

NEXT AWARDS

The next awards will be made for essays submitted on the following subjects:—
Class A—What can culture do to strengthen the links between the different parts of the Empire?
Class B—Discuss the influence of aviation on the development of the Empire.
Class C—How is Empire Day observed in your district and how do you think the celebrations could be made more effective?

Acting upon the recommendation of its Imperial Studies Committee, the Council of the Royal Empire Society has decided to make the fifth award of the annual prize founded in memory of the historian, Walter Frewen Lord, to Mr. Angus Ross of Knox College, Dundee, New Zealand for his essay entitled, "The Crown as 'the symbol of the free association of the members of the British Commonwealth' united by a common allegiance to the Crown." The essay deals with the Constitution of the Commonwealth.

The prize consists of the sum of £20. Essays or monographs embodying the results of original work on some matter of historical importance concerning the development of the Empire may be submitted by undergraduates or graduates of any University or University College in the British Empire of not more than four years standing from their first degree. The next award will be made for essays submitted before 31st December 1936.

BRITISH TRADE LOST IN EAST AFRICA

Japan Trebles Here
London, March 28.
Japanese competition with British cotton piece goods manufacturers in East Africa is referred to in a report issued yesterday by the Joint East African Board.

It is pointed out that while imports from the United Kingdom have fallen from 22,413,883 yards in 1927 to 9,920,482 yards in 1934, imports from Japan have increased from 25,190,997 yards to 97,986,940 yards in the same period.

It has been suggested that as Japanese costs were rising, the peak of this competition had been reached. The Board, however, fear that the quota system to limit imports adopted by other British Colonies might mean further increases in Japanese imports into East Africa, which is a free market under the Congo Basin Treaties.

The Board considered that the whole question of these treaties might be brought under review when the time came for the settlement of the Italo-Abyssinian dispute.

SUEZ CANAL MILLIONS

—Scots M.P. Shares In 10,500,000 French Francs
London, March 23.
The directors of the Suez Canal Company last year drew 10,500,000 French francs as their share (2 per cent.) of the 1934 profits. The net profits on the working of the Canal during 1934 totalled 522,000,000 French francs.

Sir Robert Horne, M.P., Mr. T. Harrison Hughes, Sir E. Wyld, Sir A. Smith, Sir T. Royden, and Sir A. Cayzer are the unofficial British directors. Sir Robert has been a director since 1927.

When Viscount Cranborne announced the profits in the House of Commons yesterday he said that the emoluments of the directors varied from year to year. They were required to attend meetings in Paris once a month.
